Customer Notification Second Test Site for M21XXX Products

Dear Valued Customer:

This notification is for the purpose of informing you of a second test site and shipping location for the products listed below.

Purpose

An alternate test location is required to improve delivery of these products by assuring availability of the required test capabilities. There are no changes to the test equipment, test hardware, test programs, and shipping containers.

Products currently tested by ISE in San Jose, California, are packaged and shipped by Jazz Semiconductor in Newport Beach, California. ASE in Malaysia is the new alternate location for testing and shipping these products.

The table below identifies the products that can now be tested at both ISE in San Jose and ASE in Malaysia.
